Once again, right of way violations continue to be the source of many of our traffic accidents.

Of the many types of right of way violations, failing to yield at uncontrolled intersections and failing to yield when making a left turn rank high on the list.

Left turn violations have been reduced by the installation of green turning arrows at many intersections. Intersections where there is no type of control present a problem because it is up to the drivers to yield.

It is important to know who yields the right of way to whom, but also important is the willingness to do so. The few seconds time lost in yielding is inconsequential compared weeks in the hospital.

Sections 21800 and 21801 CVC describe who has the right of way while making a left turn and at uncontrolled intersections.

Uncontrolled Intersection
21800. (a) The driver of a vehicle approaching an intersection shall yield the right-of-way to a vehicle which has entered the intersection from a different highway.

(b) When two vehicles enter an intersection from different highways at the same time the driver of the vehicle on the left shall yield the right-of-way to the driver of the vehicle on his right.

(c) This section shall not apply at intersections controlled by an official traffic control signal, stop sign, or yield right-of-way sign, or to vehicles approaching each other from opposite directions when the driver of one of the vehicles is intending to or is making a left turn.

21801. (a) The driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the left at an intersection shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle which has approached or is approaching the intersection from the opposite direction and which is so close as to constitute a hazard at any time during the turning movement.

(b) A driver having so yielded and having given a signal when and as required by this code may turn left and the drivers of all other vehicles approaching the intersection from said opposite direction shall yield the right-of-way.

Harvey Grants Research Aid

A grant of $1,700 from Harvey Aluminum was announced by the Regents of the University of Wisconsin last month.

The grant is for the support of an industrial research project which is studying the basic and clinical aspects of experimental flourine toxicosis. The study is being conducted by the Department of Biochemistry at Wisconsin's state university.

Wants All Facts

Editor, Torrance Herald:
Because I am greatly concerned about the welfare of the Torrance public schools and the coming bond election, I am writing this letter. It seems to me that the Torrance Board of Education and its administrative staff needs a verbal spanking for failing to toot their horns and keep the public of Torrance informed on at least one matter.

Out of a dozen parents I recently talked to only two were aware of the fact that there were no double sessions in any of the Torrance schools, and that there have not been any for over two years.
The credit for this somewhat unique situation, in my opinion, goes to the voters of Torrance, who in 1958 expressed their confidence in the schools' predictions of population increase by passing a $15,000,000 bond authorization. This enabled us to build enough classrooms to adequately house all of our school children and place them on full-day schedule.

If predictions of a population increase recently released by the Los Angeles Regional Planning Commission materialize, Torrance may well double its population in two decades. One thing seems certain — the present classroom space will not take care of this increase.
While those of us who attend the monthly Torrance

Educational Advisory Council meetings have been aware of many of these facts, please keep in mind that not all of the 100,000 people or the 40,000 voters of Torrance have been able to attend these meetings. If the schools are to continue to provide for the ever growing number of school children, many new classrooms must go on the drawing board now so they can be built in the near future.
I am confident that if all the people of Torrance are informed of the needs and given the facts the $8,000,000 bond issue to come before the voters in September will pass.

I don't believe our citizens want to see elimination of kindergartens and return of double sessions to Torrance, as was recently proposed in a neighboring school district after their bond election recently failed.
How about it, Mr. Torrance Schools — give all of us the facts.
Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Kenneth McVey
